

2007-2008 NBA LEAGUE PASS Restrictions and Blackout Information

National Broadcast Rights:

National ABC, ESPN, ESPN2, NBA TV, and TNT telecasts can not be included as part of NBA LEAGUE PASS. Most subscribers will be able to access these games via their cable package or local channels.

Local Broadcast Rights:

If an NBA game is being televised locally by either an Over-The-Air (OTA) station or a Regional Sports Network (RSN), iN DEMAND must blackout the local broadcast coverage area for the NBA LEAGUE PASS feed in order to protect the local television rightsholder. Subscribers in that area must tune to their local station to see the game.

Note: Blackout rules are determined by the NBA and are subject to change. The following information provides an outline and summary of the general NBA blackout rules.

NBA Blackout Overview:

- Blackout restrictions apply to all NBA games offered in the NBA LEAGUE PASS package.
- iN DEMAND must blackout the local coverage area of NBA LEAGUE PASS games in order to protect the local television rightsholder of each game in both participating teams' local markets. Blackouts are not based on arena sellouts.
- The local coverage area is based on the type of broadcaster televising a game in an "NBA Team Region" (see definitions on page 6):
  - a) If a Regional Sports Network (RSN) is carrying a game locally, iN DEMAND must blackout a region of no less than 150 miles plus any NBA approved extended market from the home city of the local team.
  - b) If an Over-The-Air (OTA) station is carrying a game locally, iN DEMAND must blackout a region of no less than 75 miles from the home city of the local team.
  - c) If there is no local coverage of a game, no blackouts are required.
- If a game is blacked out on NBA LEAGUE PASS, a subscriber will have to tune to his/her local RSN or OTA television station to see the game.

Blackout Types and Assignments:

The NBA determines what NBA “Team Region(s)”, if any, each system/headend service area falls within, along with a corresponding “Blackout Area” (see pages 7 through 12 for a list of these designations). The entire service area of each headend and its hub locations, even if servicing multiple cities/towns, must be blacked out for games in which blackout restrictions apply.

Every system/headend service area will be designated one of the following three types of blackout areas:

1) OTA Blackout

When a system/headend is designated as having an “OTA” blackout area, it falls within the NBA-defined coverage area of both the local Over-The-Air television station and the Regional Sports Network carrying the game. The system must be blacked out of NBA LEAGUE PASS games when either of the following blackout identifiers appear on the schedule:

- A) OTA
- B) RSN

Example: A system/headend in Seattle, WA has been determined to fall within the Seattle Supersonics “Team Region” and has been assigned “OTA” as their blackout designation. This means any time there is either an “OTA,” or “RSN” blackout required for an NBA LEAGUE PASS Seattle Supersonics game (any time there is local coverage), this system/headend will be blacked out.

2) RSN Blackout

When a system/headend is designated as having an “RSN” blackout, it falls outside the “OTA” blackout area, but within the NBA-defined 150 Mile/Extended Market of the RSN carrying the game. It must be blacked out of NBA LEAGUE PASS games when the following blackout identifier appears on the schedule:

- A) RSN

Example: A system/headend in Buffalo, NY has been determined to fall within the New York Knicks “Team Region” area and has been assigned “RSN” as their blackout designation. This means any time there is an “RSN” blackout required for an NBA LEAGUE PASS New York Knicks game, this system will be blacked out. If there is an “OTA” blackout required, this system will NOT be blacked out for that game.

3) None

When a system/headend is identified as having “None”, they do not fall within any of the Team Regions, and therefore are not blacked out of any NBA LEAGUE PASS games.

All Team Regions in the United States have Blackout Areas. No U.S. system will be assigned a Team Region without a Blackout Area. However, some systems may not have a designated blackout because they do not fall within a Team Region.

Communication of Blackouts:

NBA LEAGUE PASS schedules and updates will be sent to systems and will include blackout information along with the regular game information. Each system/headend will know which games they will be blacked out for, by cross-referencing the NBA LEAGUE PASS schedule with their designated “Team Region” and “Blackout Area” indicated beginning on page 7. The NBA LEAGUE PASS schedule indicates what the blackout will be for both the home (Home BO) and away (Away BO) teams.

Examples:

“OTA”

A system/headend in Seattle, WA has been determined to fall within the Seattle Supersonics “Team Region”, and has been assigned “OTA” as their blackout designation. This system would first look for all Seattle Supersonics games on the NBA LEAGUE PASS schedule. Then, depending on whether the Supersonics are playing away or at home, the system will look at the appropriate “Away BO” or “Home BO” column. If the schedule indicates a blackout for the Supersonics is an “OTA,” or “RSN”, then this system would be blacked out for that game on NBA LEAGUE PASS.

Game #	Date	Time (ET)	Visitor	Home	Notes	CH #	Feed	Away BO	Home BO
111	Tue, 10/31/00	19:30	Cleveland	New Jersey		NBA1	FSO	RSN	OTA
222	Tue, 10/31/00	19:30	Washington	Orlando		NBA2	CSN-W	RSN	--
333	Wed, 11/1/00	22:00	Denver	Seattle		NBA1	KONG	OTA	OTA
444	Th, 11/2/00	19:30	Atlanta	New York		NBA1	FSNY	--	RSN

Based on the above diagram, this system in Seattle, WA would be blacked out for game #333: Denver Nuggets at Seattle Supersonics, because the Supersonics are playing at home and the “Home BO” indicates an OTA blackout.

“RSN”

A system/headend in Buffalo, NY has been determined to fall within the New York Knicks “Team Region” area and has been assigned “RSN” as their blackout designation. This system would first look for all New York Knicks games on the NBA LEAGUE PASS schedule. Then, depending on whether the Knicks are playing away or at home, the system will look at the appropriate “Away BO” or “Home BO” column. If the schedule indicates a blackout for New York is an “RSN”, then this system would be blacked out for that game on NBA LEAGUE PASS.

Game #	Date	Time (ET)	Visitor	Home	Notes	CH #	Feed	Away BO	Home BO
111	Tue, 10/31/00	19:30	Cleveland	New Jersey		NBA1	FSO	RSN	OTA
222	Tue, 10/31/00	19:30	Washington	Orlando		NBA2	CSN-W	RSN	--
333	Wed, 11/1/00	22:00	Denver	Seattle		NBA1	KONG	OTA	OTA
444	Th, 11/2/00	19:30	Atlanta	New York		NBA1	FSNY	--	RSN

Based on the above diagram, this system would be blacked out for game #444: Atlanta Hawks at New York Knicks, because the Knicks are playing at home and the “Home BO” indicates an RSN blackout.

“None”

A system/headend in Savannah, GA has been determined NOT to fall within any “Team Region”, thus has been assigned “None” as their Team Region and blackout designation. This system will not be blacked out of any games offered via NBA LEAGUE PASS.

A dash (--) on the NBA LEAGUE PASS schedule indicates there are no blackouts required in that local team region for that particular game, because there is no local television coverage.

Game #	Date	Time (ET)	Visitor	Home	Notes	CH #	Feed	Away BO	Home BO
111	Tue, 10/31/00	19:30	Cleveland	New Jersey		NBA1	FSO	RSN	OTA
222	Tue, 10/31/00	19:30	Washington	Orlando		NBA2	CSN-W	RSN	--
333	Wed, 11/1/00	22:00	Denver	Seattle		NBA1	KONG	OTA	OTA
444	Th, 11/2/00	19:30	Atlanta	New York		NBA1	FSNY	--	RSN

Based on the above diagram, game #222 will only have an “RSN” blackout applied for the Washington Wizards Team Region. There will be NO blackouts for the Orlando Magic Team Region.

NBA LEAGUE PASS Definitions

NBA LEAGUE PASS Package: A digital programming package sold on a subscription basis. The LEAGUE PASS package consists of NBA regular season games televised outside a subscriber's local viewing area. The games included in NBA LEAGUE PASS are in addition to those available nationally on TNT, ABC, NBA TV, ESPN and ESPN2 as determined by the National Basketball Association. NBA LEAGUE PASS might not be available on digital cable systems in certain geographical regions.

System/headend Service Area: The entire region to which a single system's receiver (4400MD, MPS) delivers programming. This includes multiple headends fed off a single receiver.

NBA Team Region: The geographic region of the country based on zipcodes which make up a team's broadcast area as determined by the NBA.

NBA Blackout Area: The corresponding area within the NBA Team Region that is determined by the type of broadcaster carrying a game locally.

RSN Blackout: A blackout region of no less than 150 miles plus any approved extended market beyond 150 miles from the home city of the local team. This blackout is applied when a Regional Sports Network is carrying a game locally. The actual blackout territory of an RSN game varies by team.

OTA Blackout: A blackout region of no less than 75 miles from the home city of the local team. This blackout is applied when an over-the-air station is carrying a game locally. The actual blackout territory of an OTA game varies by team.

Away BO: The type of blackout that must be assigned to the visiting team's local market for a particular game.

Home BO: The type of blackout that must be assigned to the home team's local market for a particular game.
